

Be Included in Autism Research

The Academic Autistic Spectrum Partnership in Research and Education (AASPIRE) believes in research WITH autistic adults, not just ABOUT autistic adults.

The AASPIRE Gateway Project is an online gateway to research that fulfills AASPIRE's mission to

- encourage the inclusion of autistic adults in matters which directly affect them;
- include autistic adults as equal partners in research about autism;
- answer research questions that are considered relevant by the autistic community;
- use research findings to effect positive change for people on the autistic spectrum.

The AASPIRE Gateway Project needs your help, whether or not you are on the autistic spectrum.

If you are at least 18 years old and have access to the Internet, you can participate in a series of continuing online research studies that help AASPIRE achieve its mission. Upcoming studies address topics such as healthcare, Internet use, and problem-solving.

To participate in the AASPIRE Gateway Project:

1. Register online for an AASPIRE Gateway account starting at www.aaspire.org/gateway.
2. Take the online AASPIRE Gateway Survey. The survey takes about 20 minutes to complete.
3. You will be notified by email when new studies for which you are eligible become available.

Completing the survey entitles you to a 1 in 25 chance to win a $25 Amazon gift certificate.

If you would like to learn more about AASPIRE or the AASPIRE the Gateway Project, you can

-  Go to the Gateway home page at www.aaspire.org/gateway.
-  Send an email to Dora Raymaker at dora@aspireproject.org.
-  Make a telephone call to Dr. Christina Nicolaidis at 1-503-494-9602.

OHSU IRB # 3762; UW IRB# SE-2008-0749

Principal Investigators: Christina Nicolaidis, MD, MPH, Oregon Health & Science University
Morton Ann Gernsbacher, PhD, University of Wisconsin-Madison
Katherine McDonald, PhD, Portland State University
Dora Raymaker, Autistic Self-Advocacy Network

Please pass this information along to your friends!

